

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

FSI Releases New Home Banking System Utilizing StrikeForce's Identity Theft Prevention Products

GLEN ROCK, NJ (September 27, 2007) – Financial Services, Inc. (FSI), a leading provider of quality data processing, item processing and internet services to financial institutions, has just released its' browser based Home Banking System. The system was developed to include the features requested by their clients and Government regulatory requirements for high-level authentication. FSI has partnered with various vendors to provide a full-featured system using Ipay for electronic bill payment, and Vsoft for check image presentment.

The Key to any new online development is SECURITY; FSI chose StrikeForce Technologies, Inc. to provide high level dual channel "out-of-band" security. StrikeForce Technologies allows FSI to offer their clients a choice of dual Authentication methods (Phone, hard token, soft token, question and answer). Their ValidateID and ProtectID feature exclusive verification and authentication capabilities that help to prevent identity theft against the most vulnerable points of banking fraud: when accounts are opened, and when they are accessed for such reasons as transactions or changes.

The First client to contract for the new offering was Schuyler Savings Bank. The bank has been running live with employee accounts since September 17th. Alberto Alemany, VP and CFO, of Schuyler Savings bank said 'I am very pleased with the system and plan to offer it to our clients in October'. Schuyler Savings Bank, located in Kearny, NJ has been in business since 1924.

“Online banking is undergoing new guidelines that strongly recommend 2-factor authentication, user-friendly technology, affordable prices, and rapid deployment that StrikeForce provides,” said Mark L. Kay, CEO of StrikeForce Technologies, “and we are very excited about our partnership with an industry leader, such as FSI.”
